CAPTURED MADRID JOYOUS

3-Year Defenders Flee As Franco Men March In

BULLETIN

PARIS, March 28 (AP)—Nationalist leaders broadcasting from the Union radio station in the heart of surrendered Madrid this afternoon announced the complete military occupation of the capitol.

By the Associated Press

MADRID, March 28—War-weary Republican Madrid surrendered to triumphant Nationalist Spain today and the savage civil war which frightened Europe for nearly three years was all but over.

White flags of surrender, mingled with Nationalist emblems, broke out throughout the city early today as leaders of the national defense council fled.

Not a shot was fired when listless soldiers of the beaten Republican regime laid down their arms.

Europe Crisis

European Fascism won another major victory today as Madrid surrendered to the forces of Generalissimo Franco. Latest developments:

MADRID—Joyous Madrilenos demonstrate in streets as surrender brings Spanish civil war near termination.

LONDON—Britain breaks off Nazi trade parity; Chamberlain pushes stop-Hitler plans; moves to increase army.

BERLIN—German attitude toward Poland stiffens on Danzig issue. WARSAW—With troops massing in Polish corridor, Poles prepare to resist Germans.

HUNGARY, SLOVAK BATTLE ON

BUDAPEST, March 28 (AP)—Boundary negotiations between Hungarian and Slovak commissions were broken off today as fighting broke out anew along the disputed frontier between Slovakia and Hungary's newly acquired Carpatho-Ukraine. Slovakia is a German protectorate.

The negotiations were interrupted suddenly when the Slovaks decided to return to Bratislava, their capital.

Artillery engagements broke out and at least two Hungarians were reported killed.

Although clothed with power to enter into an agreement with Hungary, the Slovak delegation refused to accept the terms offered before consulting with its government.

The Slovak commissioners said they would return to Budapest after consulting leaders in Bratislava.

Capitulation in the conflict, which lasted two years and eight months and cost untold hundreds of thousands of lives, came on orders of Colonel Adolfo Prada, Republican army's new commander.

General Jose Milaja, "savior of Madrid," and his war minister, Segismundo Casado, had gone to Valencia.

(A Valencia dispatch said Milaja's Republican National Defense Council, meeting there after fleeing from Madrid, was understood to be negotiating for the early entry of Generalissimo Franco's troops into Valencia.)

WHERE THOUSANDS DIED

An estimated 60,000 jubilant Fascists celebrated in the streets—the city had been under siege since Nov. 6, 1936. In these same streets hundreds had been killed in intermittent artillery and air bombardments.

Madrid's famous "fifth column"—Generalissimo Francisco Franco's sympathizers who risked their lives to spy for him during the war—came into the open.

Released from the strain of war, people rushed frantically about the streets, dancing and embracing each other. They sang and shouted in scenes of wild enthusiasm.

FRANCO TO MARCH IN

General Franco was expected to make a triumphal entry into Madrid after "cleanup operations." He may come Saturday.

Disarmed Republican soldiers—who had seen Franco gradually take over three-fourths of Spain in a campaign which saw few Republicans.

WPA BUS UPSET IN FLAMES, 39 INJURED MEN RESCUED

Thirty-nine WPA workers from Everett were injured today, four seriously, when a bus taking them to Littleton skidded, overturned and caught fire on the Concord turnpike near the Concord-Lincoln line.

Science Exonerates Man Accused by Girl

Blood really will tell, it was proved scientifically today in East Cambridge court—with the result that a young Cambridge man was cleared on a charge of being father to a Cambridge girl's year-old daughter.

Felix Sartori, 21, of Jackson street, Cambridge, was accused by Margaret M. Pettipas, 22, of Dudley street, who broke down and wept in an anteroom following the decision.

In the first case of its kind in the state, Dr. Clyde E. Keeler, instructor in the Howe Laboratory of Harvard Medical School, testified that he made tests of blood taken from the mother, the child and Sartori.

Dr. Keeler, a Guggenheim fellow and consultant in genetics for the Massachusetts Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children, told the court his tests revealed a "blood character" not present in the blood of either of the mother or of Sartori.

"This character," said the scientist, "must have come from the natural father, because this blood character is inherited directly from parents to the child without skipping generations."

As a scientific examination of the blood, Dr. Keeler told Judge Robert Wolcott, this test is "infallible."

He said two other scientists had checked on his tests with the same results—Drs. Sanford Hooker and William Boyd of Evans Memorial Hospital.

None of the three knew at the time from whence the blood in the three vials had come, or from whom.

Many of the victims, pinned in the wreckage, screamed in terror as flames enveloped the engine of the bus and threatened to spread. Police, firemen and fellow WPA workers arriving in other buses rescued the trapped men, smashing windows to reach some of them.

The injured were taken to Emerson hospital, Concord, where they were attended by doctors and nurses hastily called from neighboring communities to assist the regular hospital staff.

All but four of the victims were released, after receiving first aid treatment.

The four held at the hospital were:

JAMES HOLLAND, Webster street, Everett, dislocated shoulder.

PHILIP BOCCUZI, Robbins street, Everett, lacerations of right arm, shoulder and chest.

Radio 'Voice' Leads To Fight Over Will

So in love with the voice of a Boston radio announcer did a 63-year-old Dorchester widow fall that when she prepared Sunday dinner she sat down and pretended she was waiting for him, it was related today in probate court.

A PENNY PAID—FOR MAID—As Stoneham's New England Sanitarium and Hospital officials counted 8000 pennies, Mrs. Myron M. Pearlsberg of Malden prepared to leave the hospital with her daughter, Brinda. The Pearlsbergs saved the coppers to square the account with the hospital.

Deny Joan Absentee Divorce From Tone

LOS ANGELES, March 28 (AP)—Joan Crawford failed today to obtain her divorce from Franchot Tone by "remote control" when Superior Judge Benjamin Scheinman refused to consider the action with the deposition of the actress as testimony.

The court said: "It is against the policy of this court to consider a divorce action unless the plaintiff is present." The hearing was continued until April 15.

Miss Crawford gave a deposition last week, with court permission, detailing her cruelty charges against Tone.

The law permits evidence in a divorce action by means of a deposition in the event the plaintiff expects to be absent from the county when the trial is called.

Miss Crawford, planning a trip had hoped to obtain her divorce without a personal appearance.

Joan, Tone in Last Fling Before Divorce

NEW YORK, March 28 (INS)—Their last evening together somewhat disrupted by fear of auto-graph hunters, Joan Crawford and Franchot Tone, still on the friendliest of terms, today awaited the remote control California divorce which they had expected to shatter their marital bonds.

About Pupschen? Pupschen is to remain in Joan's custody if the divorce is granted, but Franchot will have visiting privileges.

Joan and Franchot had a lengthy dinner last night in the upstairs room of a swanky supper club, Franchot, developing a sudden shyness, canceled his plans for the theater. So Joan went with her press agent instead of Franchot.

Miffed because Joan revealed their plans for a joyous evening together, Tone secluded himself all day yesterday. He was on hand to greet Joan when she stepped into the supper club, gorgeous in silver fox furs and a new metallic gown. Tone planted a firm kiss on Joan's lips while her eyes grew misty and then led her upstairs to celebrate their coming divorce decree.

"He's as shy as Garbo," Joan had explained previously when some doubts arose as to whether shy Franchot would show up for the dinner date.

She said she was not going to marry Charles Martin, Hollywood writer, who was reported to be ready to fly here.

2 Near Death As Main Bursts

Sidewalks were buckled, paving dislodged, basements flooded and two telephone repairmen narrowly missed death by drowning as a water main burst at Beach and Tyler streets, in Chinatown, today.

The two men, Edward Leonard, of 113 Ashcroft road, Medford, and Otto Wilhelm, of 64 Norfolk street, Dorchester, had repaired a broken line in a manhole, and were scrambling up onto the street when the main gave way.

A flood of water a foot deep swept through the street and poured into the manhole. It raised sidewalks as much as six inches as it flooded them, and into the basements of Chinese stores and restaurants. The area was cut off for all traffic in fear that, undermined, streets and sidewalks might collapse.

When the water receded it left a layer of ooze, which had to be shoveled away.

Despite numerous affectionate letters she wrote the announcer and a gift she sent him, the court was told by Attorney P. W. Northrup, the announcer, Bill O'Connell of the Yankee Network, conducted himself with admirable restraint and merely sent her polite replies.

Attorney Northrup was arguing vainly on his motion for jury issues in a contest by Barbara P. Vanderslice of Sanbornville, N. H., a first cousin, to break the will of the widow, Mrs. Agnes Mae Watson of Beane avenue, Dorchester.

Judge Frederick J. Dillon denied the motion for jury issues and set April 25 as the date for hearing the will contest on its merits.

In the will of the widow, who died June 3, 1938, and left an estate of approximately $15,000, Bill O'Connell is bequeathed $500.

Miss Vanderslice, her only heir-at-law, was cut off with nothing and charges that at the time her cousin made the will in June, 1936, she was of unsound mind.

The court was told by Attorney Northrup that Mrs. Watson, as the result of an operation and her general health, was a shut-in and a radio listener.

"Early in 1936," he said, "she acquired an overwhelming passion, affection and love for a Bill O'Connell, a radio announcer, she used to listen to him on the radio."

SET TABLE FOR "TWO"

"We will show that she sent letters to him about how she had visualized him in her dreams and that this feeling was not reciprocated."

"We will show that on one occasion she sent him a gift and he sent her an answer. She kept that under her pillow."

"She never saw him but once. He was 26 or 27."

"We will show that in another letter, she said she cut out a picture of someone she thought looked like O'Connell."

"She had hallucinations that he

WOE ENDS JOY—Trouble never seems far away from Joseph R. Murphy, his wife, his six-months-old boy . . . trouble that began when they eloped two years ago when the girl was 14 . . . trouble that today held him in theft of an auto. Trouble . . . that was lightened somewhat when the girl was allowed to kiss him through the bars.

BABY BRIDE LOYAL TO ACCUSED HUBBY

Heights of joy—and depths of sorrow!

It's always been one or the other, for young and pretty Mrs. Geraldine Jordan Murphy, ever since she eloped two years ago, at the age of 14, with boyish Joseph R. Murphy, who was 20 then.

Today was a fearful day for the young wife. For her Jos was in the toils of the law, accused of misappropriating an automobile.

And Geraldine, now 16 and the mother of a six-months-old son, had to leave her baby at home and go to Roxbury court to tell the judge Jos's arrest must somehow be just a tragic mistake.

MURPHY HELD IN $1000

Police witnesses said otherwise. They said young Murphy took an auto parked in Dudley street, Roxbury, drove it off without leave, then later crashed into two other parked machines in Humphreys street.

William Gill, 17, brother of the owner of one of these, chased Murphy a quarter of a mile and held him until policemen in a cruising car arrived. Judge Timothy Ahern was told.

He held Murphy in $1000 on a $2000 bond of misappropriating an auto, driving without a license and leaving the scene of an accident.

KISSES HUSBAND

Terrible little Mrs. Murphy, not looking much older than she did when she ran away from grammar school to be married, pleaded vain for lig. or bail.

Sympathetic police took her later to the detention room and let her kiss Jos through the bars.

"Don't you worry, Joe," she encouraged him. "I'll come out all right. I know it will."

Maharaja Weds American Girl

INDORE, India, March 28 (AP)—The young Maharaja Yeshwant of Indore, son of a man whose marriage to the American Nancy Miller in 1928 caused a sensation in the United States and India, announced today that he had married an American girl to get "mental peace."

Court circles would not discuss the bride's American background, but the government's publicity director said that before her marriage she was "Miss Branyen." Earlier her name was given as Marguerite Lawler and she and the Maharaja were understood to have met in California about two years ago.

(In Los Angeles it was suggested that the bride was Marguerite L. Branyen, the Maharaja's former nurse.)

YELLOW FEVER MOSQUITOES NOT EXPECTED HERE

Should the United States be invaded by anopheles gambiae, the African mosquito and the Public Health Enemy No. 1 of the South American continent—a malaria carrier who kills 10 per cent of all infected—it is practically impossible for the scourge to spread as far North as Massachusetts.

Yellow fever carriers, a much more common variety, have been found as far North as New York City, but, hardly ever in Boston.

Somewhere between—New Haven, maybe, or New London—there is a mythical climate line beyond which they do not pass.

All of which is by way of quieting any local fears which may have been aroused yesterday by publication of the Rockefeller Foundation's report of the inroads of anopheles gambiae in Brazil. There 6000 persons died last year from the malaria injected into their veins a whole valley was desolated—no crops planted, no salt harvested—and from where the menace seems to be spreading northward towards Central America.

STATE HAS PROBLEM

Not that Massachusetts hasn't its own problem. It has, one which is quite as mystifying and even more fatal in its effects, but which, for the time, at least, seems pretty well under control.

Mosquitoes, the little singers of the summer night, may be responsible for encephalo-myelitis, a disease which is fatal in every two out of three cases.

It was only last fall that Mrs. Mosquito—that's the one which does the stinging—was suspected, although it is probable that the disease, by other names, has always been around and about. . . . Some may have called it brain fever, some may have thought it was a possible development after whooping cough.

Actually it is a germ disease, like yellow fever, say, and maybe—it's not certain yet—mosquitoes are the carriers. This much is known: The disease has been prevalent in horses, and the virus of the horse disease is the same as that which attacks humans.

LITTLE CAUSE FOR ALARM

The State Department of Health has asked for an appropriation of $17,500 to carry on its investigation. It is likely that the money will be voted at this session of the legislature, and, by this time next year, the problem may be solved.

It must be understood, however, that the disease is not prevalent; that there is little cause for alarm.

There were only 25 cases last year, and that reasonable protection from mosquitoes will more than likely insure a happy, pleasant summer for junior. As a matter of fact, unless the extremely wet conditions of last summer are repeated, there may be no new cases at all.

But, remember, the mosquito is an enemy. . . . What you can do about it will be related shortly.

Encephalo-myelitis is a brain inflammation, similar in some respects to infantile paralysis. It is accompanied by high fever, and, sometimes, by partial, or total paralysis. Those who survive manage to battle through the first few days. Then, the recovery, if it comes, is slow and heart-rending.

HORSE FEVER

It was long known as "horse fever," and appeared here in recognition form only during the last two or three years, although as before stated, has probably always been known under a variety of different designations.

Serums have been developed which prevent the disease in horses and, if all can be inoculated this year, the disease may be stamped out at its place of origin—in the horses, themselves.

But mosquitoes are bad for many other reasons. . . .

How bad they are, what is being done about them by the state and the government will be told tomorrow. . . . YOU CAN HELP!

Yankee Clipper Waits Next Hop

HORTA, Azores, March 26 (INS).—The 42-ton Yankee clipper rode at anchor in Horta Harbor today awaiting the signal to take off on the next stage of its trans-Atlantic inspection flight.

Tomorrow or Thursday, the clipper, the first plane built for mass passenger transport ever to cross the Atlantic, will fly to Lisbon, Marseilles and Foynes, Ireland. Then, in leisurely fashion, it will return to the United States.

Pacific Clippers Halt Flights for Repairs

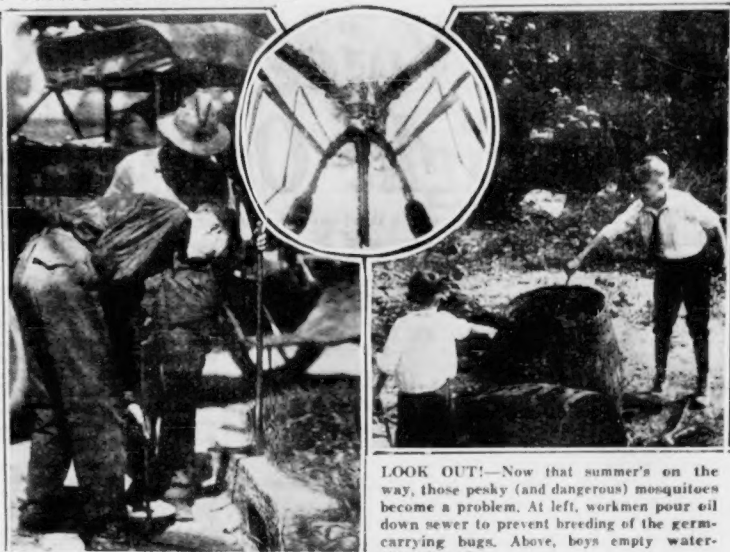

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28 (INS).—Two of Pan-American Airways' veteran trans-Pacific clippers, winging their way in opposite directions between San Francisco and Honolulu, were forced back by engine trouble.

The China Clipper turned back to Treasure Island due to an oil leak, after proceeding 100 miles on her way to Honolulu. The Philippine Clipper, en route to California, turned back to the islands after having gone 160 miles.

Robert Montgomery Joins Vineyard Group

CHILMARK, March 28 (INS).—This Martha's Vineyard community today learned another famed movie star would be numbered among its residents.

Joining James Cagney, who has a 200 acre estate in Chilmark, will be Robert Montgomery, who is planning a $10,000 home. At nearby Chappaquiddet, author Pearl Buck has rented a place. Stage actress Katharine Cornell has an estate at West Abington.

LOOK OUT!—Now that summer's on the way, those pesky (and dangerous) mosquitoes become a problem. At left, workmen pour oil down sewer to prevent breeding of the germ-carrying bugs. Above, boys empty water-filled barrels.

MILTON, N. H., March 28.—John H. Howland, 25, accused slayer of 61-year-old Maude Horne, and his 15-year-old cousin, Aida Butler, are retracing their runaway flight in custody of county authorities, it was reported here today.

It was announced Howland will be lodged in Stratford County Jail at Dover tomorrow night on arrival with Sheriff Clyde Cotton and County Solicitor John F. Beamie from Texas.

Authorities declared that Aida will be sought as the state's star witness against Howland.

KILLS WIFE, THEN SELF

FREEHOLD, N. J., March 28 (AP).—Detective Merritt Kent said Ignatz Kotko, 48, ladies' coat manufacturer, killed his divorced wife, Anna, 45, today and then himself as a climax to marital difficulties which ended in a divorce.

State Bank Commissioner William P. Husband, Jr., is on his way out and will soon be removed by Governor Saltonstall. It was learned at the State House today.

The governor's "purge" of the state department of banks and banking which started following a private investigation directed by the governor, is expected to reach major proportions soon and end with dismissal of Husband.

FAVORED APPOINTMENT

Although Republican leaders criticized former Governor James M. Curley and Charles F. Hurley for ordering state department heads to hire certain persons, Governor Saltonstall followed their lead by ordering Commissioner Husband to appoint William Halliday as supervisor of liquidation of closed banks in place of John La'eye Delaney of Cambridge, close friend of former Governor Hurley.

The job pays $5000 a year.

It was learned from an unquestioned source that Husband did not know until two hours before the appointment was made by him that Governor Saltonstall wanted Halliday to take Delaney's position.

In making public the appointment of Halliday the governor said the Newtonville man, who has been unemployed for two years, had been appointed "at my request and with my approval."

SEE HUSBAND'S DOOM

Later the governor announced he has named three men to serve in an advisory capacity to Halliday. They are Charles S. Sprague of Lynn, a business man; Henry W. Minot of Brookline, a banker and retired broker, and Frank C. Nichols of Boston, a banking official.

Politically informed persons saw in these appointments the death-knell of Commissioner Husband. Halliday has already started work in the department.

It is known the governor has not been satisfied with the speed in liquidation of closed banks. The reason given for Halliday's appointment was that the governor wanted to "pep up the liquidation of closed banks."

It was also learned on good authority that Walter V. McCarthy, ousted as state commissioner of welfare by the governor, yesterday has been assured of a position in the department paying more than $5000 a year. As commissioner he received $7000.

FIREBUG BLAZE ROUTS 22

Lives of 22 persons, driven from their homes into the rain, were endangered by flames which swept the rear of a four-story apartment building at Main and Bunker Hill streets, Charlestown, today.

Two alarms brought heavy concentration of apparatus and police cars to the scene.

Police said the fire probably was set by a firebug who has been active in Charlestown for a month.

According to District Chief John Walsh, the flames broke out on a rear stairway of wood construction and raced to the roof. With a few more minutes' start, the blaze would have cost several lives, he said.

Anthony K. Milchus, 44, occupant of a top floor apartment, was aroused by the smell of smoke and ran through the building awaking his neighbors. He then raced barefoot to the fire station around the corner.

Patrolman Joseph Marshall was among the first to help lead women and children, all in night clothing, to safety.

Two stores on the ground floor were damaged by water. Fire broke into all the apartments on upper floors. Damage was estimated at $2000.

Those forced to flee included Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bodoin and family, and Mr. and Mrs. George Murray, second floor; Mr. and Mrs. Milton Wyke and four children and Richard Hewett and Misses Ellen and Catherine Hewett, third floor; Mr. and Mrs. Frank MacAuley, daughter Metta, and Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Milchus, fourth floor.

We went to 1,000 men, from 22 states, and poured each one of them a drink of delicious Old Quaker. "Taste it!" we asked them. "Smell it! Swallow a drink of it! Then give us your honest opinion!"

We were amazed at their answer. Not one of these men knew the name, age, or price of the whiskey he was trying—yet 960 out of 1,000 commented on Old Quaker's rich, mild mellowness... its delicate aroma, its delicious taste! They proved it a whiskey you'll be glad to drink... proud to serve—even though Old Quaker's price is unbelievably low!

Why Not Save Money?

If you agree with these 960 out of 1,000 men—you've made a money-saving discovery. You can probably cut your whiskey bills a third—for Old Quaker, aged for 3 full years in temperature-controlled warehouses, has the taste of expensive whiskey at a real rock-bottom price! Why not see for yourself—and say "Old Quaker"—the next time you buy!

"Man—what a rich flavor! Say—that's the smoothest whiskey I ever swallowed!" remarks Win. F. Kellan, New Jersey Hotel Man, after trying Old Quaker.

"Um! Real rich taste! Judge it's mighty old to slock way it goes down!" says John W. Wise, Super-Vintner Timekeeper.

"I'd guess it's right old—'cause it's got that rich flavor as if it had mellowed a long time!" is what George Romano, Advertising Man, said after making trial of Old Quaker.

"Tastes like real old whiskey! Goes down the hatch extra smooth!"—Frank J. McCready, Grocery Clerk.

"Our Inspector behind every bottle is your Assurance of Quality."

DEMANDS ACTION ON PARDON PROBE

Demanding immediate action on his order for a full and complete investigation of all pardons and paroles in recent years, Representative Roland D. Sawyer, Ware, today conferred with Joseph R. Cotton, president of the Senate and Representative Christian A. Herter, Speaker of the House, asking that the order be reported forthwith.

House Weighs Beano Limit

Obviously impressed by the testimony that racketeers take the lion's share of beano game profits and charity gets what's left, the state Senate was in record today by a vote of 18 to 17 as in favor of limiting play to two days a week. As the Senate voted, the mayors of Waltham and Chelsea moved into action in back of measures which would outlaw the game in their communities.

The action, which requires approval by the House, came after lengthy debate on several bills relating to beano and followed killing of bills seeking outright repeal of the law and prohibiting cash prizes at beano games.

Earlier in the day Mayor Arthur A. Hansen of Waltham had charged beano was responsible for wrecking many homes, and Mayor Edward J. Voke of Chelsea demanded that wives and mothers spending welfare allotments on beano be purged from the relief rolls.

Beauty hints by Arline Gould every day in the Boston American.

Incensed at recent revelations with reference to the revocation of the pardons of John Tartar, South Boston murderer, "Bones" Baker, now serving five to 25 years in Texas for armed robbery, and Charles Lyman, who was found guilty of breaking, entering and larceny in Suffolk superior court, Representative Sawyer said it was time a thorough investigation was made, so the public might be informed of what was back of the "damnable action" in releasing Tartar and others.

SEES "CORRUPTION"

"I was sure," said Representative Sawyer, "that there was corruption in connection with these pardons and paroles when I filed my order."

"The independent investigations by newspapermen, printed in the Boston Evening American and another newspaper, confirm my own convictions. I speak for the public and on their behalf demand that investigation be forthwith started."

"In a reported interview State Commissioner of Correction Arthur T. Lyman said that Tartar, who was sentenced to life in imprisonment for the sex killing of Mary Mahan, should never have been released from prison."

"He was further reported as saying that Tartar is feeble-minded, and that there apparently had been a double shakedown of his two brothers in connection with his release."

DEMANDS ACTION

"In view of these alleged facts it certainly is high time the rules committee reported out my order so that we may go to the bottom of this business and take some action against those responsible for the release of this killer, who may again commit murder before apprehended."

"Let us do away with this traffic in pardons for all time. It is a blot on the good name of Massachusetts."

"If money was paid for the release of John Tartar, feeble-minded sex killer; Raymond Patriarca, who was termed Public Enemy No. 1 of Rhode Island, and others of their ilk, the public should know it and the persons who have engineered their release or anyone who accepted money in connection therewith should be punished to the full extent of the law."

Banker Indicted With Manton Says 'Guilty'

NEW YORK, March 28 (AP)—L. Lutsch, former official of the Fort Greene National Bank of Brooklyn, who was indicted with former federal circuit court Judge Martin T. Manton on charges of conspiracy to obstruct justice, pleaded guilty today in federal court.

Judge Murray I. Hulbert paroled Lutsch in the custody of his attorney for sentencing on May 15.

SURRENDER ENDS 3-YEAR WAR FOR MADRID

Joy Sweeps City; White Flags Wave

lian victories and came to a climax with the fall of Barcelona January 26—streamed back into the city from deserted fronts.

They heard street throngs shout "Viva Franco," while others drove around in automobiles carrying phonographs and loud speakers playing the Spanish royal anthem and the Nationalist anthem.

A few remembered that Madrid officially became Republican on Tuesday, April 4, 1931, just as it ceased to be a republic on Tuesday.

With the surrender—which followed long and secret negotiations with Franco by the Republican defense council—the old red and yellow monarchist flag which flew under King Alfonso was seen everywhere. Balconies were a profusion of white and red and yellow shawls bearing the monarchist insignia.

FUGITIVES JAM ROADS

The flag was hoisted atop the 14-story Telefonos building, the shell-pitted skyscraper which is Madrid's tallest and best-known structure.

The white flags flapped from military barracks and elsewhere in the city.

Soon after the surrender the streets were full of Republican soldiers who had abandoned their weapons in the trenches which have protected Madrid for more than two years.

Roads out of the city were jammed with fugitives.

Republican banknotes were refused in the shops, and many persons were giving the Nationalist salute.

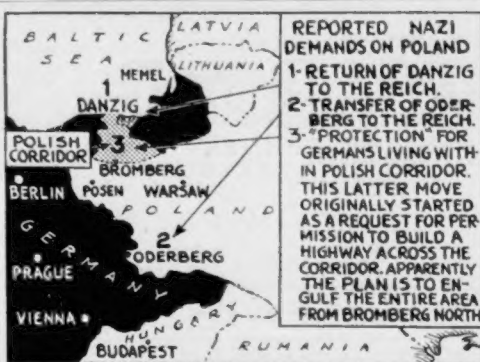

Dozens of motor cars and trucks containing Falangist (Fascist) men and girls appeared suddenly at noon.

They toured streets thronged with grimy, listless men of the central army, streaming back to Madrid from the suburban front.

A shortage of gasoline and automobiles seriously impeded flight of the refugees.

Hint U. S. Envoy Done in Berlin

BERLIN, March 28 (AP)—Indication that United States Ambassador Hugh R. Wilson does not plan to return to Berlin was given today in Mrs. Wilson's notice of dismissal to servants, effective May 1. Ambassador Wilson was called to Washington on November 16 to report to President Roosevelt on the November anti-Jewish outbursts and regulations. Mrs. Wilson remained here.

"GRAB" FEVER—Fuehrer Hitler's annexation mania now includes the areas shown in the above map. He wants return of Danzig, transfer of Oderberg and asks "protection" for Germans in the Polish corridor, apparently a move to eventually engulf the whole Danzig area.

GERMAN WOMEN SEIZED BY POLES

WARSAW, March 28 (AP)—Polish authorities today arrested eight women at Bydgosz on charges of spreading false news about Polish treatment of Germans.

DNB, official German news agency, had previously published a dispatch from Bydgosz which said German women and children were beaten on the streets for speaking their mother tongue. Polish authorities said such stories were exaggerations.

Italiaes were held throughout the country to stress the people's readiness to defend Poland against aggression and the press reported many contributions to the nation's defense funds from organizations and individuals, including an unidentified family in Los Angeles, Cal.

Nazi Press Hurls Charges at Poland

Copyright, 1938, by International News Service

BERLIN, March 28 (INS)—Nazi Germany's high-gear propaganda apparatus turned its attention today in the direction of Poland, pronouncing the belief that Adolf Hitler may be preparing a possible quick showdown on the question of Danzig and the Polish corridor.

In the wake of press dispatches alleging that German women and children had been beaten in Polish corridor towns for speaking their mother tongue, a semi-official German statement voiced "amazement" over this state of affairs.

The semi-official German statement protested astonishment at what it termed the "inability of the Polish authorities to check demonstrations against Germans and attempts to disturb the relations between the Reich and Poland."

The tone of the statement and dispatches was cynically reminiscent of the propaganda campaigns that paved the way for Hitler's demolition of the Czechoslovak republic and restoration of Memel to the Reich.

Daladier Set To Answer Duce

PARIS, March 28 (INS)—Premier Edouard Daladier moved today to strengthen his diplomatic and military position in preparation for the reply he is scheduled to deliver tomorrow to Premier Mussolini's demands upon France.

As the long, Italo-French quarrel over African and Mediterranean vantage points approached a climax, the French ministerial council ordered increases in the French navy's personnel to a virtual wartime level.

As outlined by French Foreign Minister Bonnet, France is willing to negotiate peacefully with Italy on the questions of Tunisia, the Suez Canal and the Addis Ababa-Djibouti railway—making concessions but not handing over any territorial gifts.

Britain Breaks Off German Trade Talk

LONDON, March 28 (AP)—The British government formally announced to a cheering House of Commons today that "political developments made further progress impossible" in trade talks with Germany.

Later Prime Minister Chamberlain told Commons the government was "actively continuing negotiations with other governments" on measures to keep Hitler from further aggression.

"The House will not expect me to make statements which can not be complete until we are in possession of the final views of the other governments concerned," Chamberlain added.

OTHER WAR MOVES

The premier's announcement followed statements by government spokesmen to the effect that Britain:

Was planning huge financial loans and subsidies to shipping interests to fit its merchant fleet for possible use in wartime;

Was considering an increase in Britain's territorial army, home defenders of Britain's rugged shores.

Oliver Stanley, president of the Board of Trade, in discussing the agreement recently reached between the Federation of British Industries and its corresponding organizations in Germany, told the House:

"I have informed the Federation that while there can be no doubt regarding the value of the preliminary work, recent political developments have created a situation which while it lasts has made further progress impossible."

TO INCREASE ARMY

War Secretary Leslie Hore-Belisha disclosed in response to a question that the government was considering "increasing the number of regular army divisions."

Earlier General Vincent Gort, chief of the army general staff, had flown to France with several high officers to inspect France's Maginot line facing Germany and to discuss defense problems with the French general staff.

Hore-Belisha had been asked to consider giving Britain a territorial army (corresponding to the United States' National Guard) of 2,000,000 men, or about eight times its present size.

Poison Slayer of 2 Facing Sanity Test

KEENE, N. H., March 28.—Albert Wojchick, 35, charged with murder in the poison liquor "mistake" deaths of two persons, was prepared for transfer today to Concord State Hospital.

Arraigned at Winchester in the living room of the home of Judge Franklin P. Kellom, Wojchick pleaded not guilty to two charges of murder in the deaths of his brother-in-law, Edgar Smart, 25, and 25-year-old Mrs. Julia Wheaton.

He was order held without bail for the September sitting of Cheshire County Superior Court.

Illness of Judge Kellom caused the special session at his home.

As Wojchick's plea was given, Superior Court Judge Henry Burque signed the order committing the prisoner to Concord State Hospital for the mental examination required in capital cases.

Meanwhile, a heavy guard was maintained over the prisoner, declared to be near a breakdown as a result of the deaths.

County Attorney John B. Goodnow stated Wojchick had signed a confession that he had poisoned the liquor which brought death to the victims, members of a party at the Smart home in Ashuelot.

The death potion was intended for Lois Wojchick, 19, estranged wife of the prisoner, according to a statement allegedly taken by the prosecutor.

"I made up my mind that if I couldn't have her no one else was going to," Wojchick was quoted. The prisoner added he planned to take his own life as well, Goodnow said.

Await Cardinal Friday in Hub

ABOARD MOTORSHIP VULCANIA March 28.—Smooth seas and a fast clip of more than 21 knots an hour today assured Cardinal O'Connell of gaining a day in his homingcoming from Rome.

His Eminence is now expected to arrive in Boston Friday morning on a Boston-New York ship of the Eastern Steamship Line, after debarking from the Vulcania at New York Thursday morning.

In excellent health, the Cardinal enjoyed the decks again today, enjoying the sun and gaining strength after the arduous of his duties at the Papal election.

Fish Gulper Now Eats Bugs

Living Clark Jr., Harvard's goldfish eating champion, fasted today, swallowing any onslaught on his record of 24 goldfish.

Just to discourage any attempt, Clark announced he was confident he could gulp down at least 75 of the pretty little fish at a single sitting.

While waiting for new goldfish heights to soar, the Harvard student turned his unusual talents to financial gain, listing these prices: Angelformer swallowed, 10 cents; common bug, a nickel; beetles, 25 cents.

City Council Due For Real Cleanup

Members of the Melrose board of aldermen laid in a goodly supply of soap powder, mops and pails today for their promised cleaning of the city council chamber.

In order to save $150 in an estimated budget of $1,500, members of the council will roll up their sleeves at City Hall Saturday morning—if they don't get cold feet in the meantime.

U.S. TO HAVE WORLD'S LARGEST WARSHIPS

WASHINGTON, March 28 (INS).—Determined to make the Western Hemisphere invulnerable from attack either from the Atlantic or the Pacific, or from both oceans simultaneously, President Roosevelt has given the U. S. Navy the word to go ahead with construction of the largest and most powerful battleships the world has ever known it was learned today.

The naval high command is prepared to lay down keels on two 45,000 ton floating fortresses by next summer. It became known as the result of secret testimony by Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of naval operations, before a House naval appropriations subcommittee.

Decision to build the 45,000 tonners—a size hitherto unknown in naval construction—was reached by the navy high command as a result of similar capital ship construction by Japan and other powers.

Japan, according to reliable information, has laid down or projected three ships displacing 45,000 tons.

The new American ships are expected to carry 12 16-inch guns.

Fear Truck Tieup

Complete paralysis of truck transportation in Rhode Island and southern Massachusetts threatened today as Gov. Vandebilt of Rhode Island ruefully admitted he had failed to bring the feuding groups together.

The truck owners of his own state told him bluntly the terms set forth by the drivers and presented by him could not work.

They said they would leave no profit in the business and defeat their own aims.

With negotiations apparently at a standstill, three large trucking concerns prepared to take federal court action against union officials and members.

Attorney Hugh M. Joseloff of Hartford, Ct., said the Consolidated Trucking Company, which he represents, and the Adley and McCarthy trucking firms would file an action charging violation of the Sherman anti-trust act and the Clayton act "for unlawful interference with interstate commerce in restraint of trade and competition."

In the meantime, results of the strike were beginning to be felt, not only throughout the directly affected areas, but in Greater Boston, where the drivers are at work.

Freight deliveries by truck have fallen off. One owner says unless the strike is settled there will be a reduction of 75 per cent of such deliveries soon.

Harvey Saul, state labor director in Rhode Island, is carrying on in the attempt to make a settlement.

Forced to Join In Bomb Holdup

CHANUTE, Kas., March 28 (AP)—City Attorney Joe Balch was "scared stiff" when his old school chum, John Thornburg, forced him to carry a sawed off shotgun while Thornburg held up the First National Bank with a dynamite bomb taped to his stomach.

"I said to myself, 'This man is certainly nuts,'" Balch said today in telling how Thornburg made off with $4866 in a stolen flash.

Thornburg, 26-year-old former Chanute resident, is still at large. Balch, B. S. Cofer, vice president of the bank, and Police Chief Lee Knapp all positively identified the holdupman as Thornburg.

BOMB ON STOMACH

Thornburg came into Balch's office and placed a paper sack on a desk.

"He kept his left hand behind him," Balch said. "Suddenly he pulled out his left hand and let me see it. He had two little wires attached to it, one to the forefinger and one to the thumb."

"If I touch these together," he said, "it will complete a circuit and blow the hell out of me, you and the building. Look"—and he pulled up his shirt and showed me the two sticks of dynamite and the caps and the battery taped over his abdomen.

MADE TO CARRY GUN

"You're going to help me rob the First National Bank," he said. "Don't get to thinking this dynamite won't go off. Take a look at this percussion cap."

Balch, an eloquent courtroom orator, tried persuasion but soon realized he was making no headway.

"Then he handed me the sack. He said there was a sawed-off shotgun in it, and he told me to assemble it. He meant business, assemble it. He meant business," Balch said.

When the gun was assembled Thornburg ordered:

"You carry it. Maybe you'll want to shoot me. Now let's go."

They crossed the street to the bank. Thornburg instructed Balch to tell Cofer he wanted $16,000.

Cofer persuaded him there wasn't that much cash in the bank so Thornburg accepted $4866.

'Lost' Blonde Appears as Cops Search

LUNENBURG, March 28—If police had their way they'd present a compass to Mrs. Nan Olson, 28-year-old blond waitress in a Shirley night club—because Nan gave them quite a to-do for hours today.

In the sleet and rain and snow the police had been dragging Fitchburg Ice pond for some time in belief she had broken through the ice and drowned.

They quit when she telephoned her employer at the Shell Club on the Shirley-Lunenburg line, then appeared for work shortly after noon.

Early today she had been given a ride by a truck driver, Clifton Hill of Gardner. She said she wanted to go into the woods and would go back, so Hill stepped three and a half miles from mile club.

When she did not reappear Hill found footprints leading to the pond, he informed police.

It was all very simple as Ann explained this afternoon. She got mixed up in the woods and came out to U. S. Route 2 at another point. Finding no truck, she caught another ride to Fitchburg.

Reorganization Bill Sent to House

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP)—The Senate approved a compromise government reorganization bill today and sent it to the House for final congressional action.

The measure would permit the President to reorganize, consolidate or abolish most government bureaus by executive order. The orders would become effective after 60 days unless disapproved by both houses of Congress.

3 RESCUERS INJURED

Police said they belated three of the slightly injured victims were not passengers on the wrecked bus, but were hurt when they went to the rescue of the others.

State police said the crash was caused by sleet and ice forming on the highway.

Witnesses said the heavy vehicle toppled as it slid around a sharp corner near the junction of the old Concord road and the turnpike.

Many passengers were spilled over the highway. Others were pinned under the bus and shrieked with fear as the wreck burst into flames.

State police from Concord barracks, five miles away, rushed extra cars and special details of officers to help extricate the victims and carry them to the Emerson Hospital in Concord.

Give U.S. Employees Time on Back Taxes

There are 8000 federal employees in Massachusetts who have for state income taxes aggregating $1,200,000. Tax collector Henry F. Long announced today.

"I will now proceed to collect what is owed the state," asserted Long. "We will not be hard on these fellows and will give them a reasonable time in which to pay."

"It has been my belief the past three years that federal workers were eligible for the state tax and I have been reporting them ever since to the state income tax collector. They were told that tax law would not be enforced until a decision, which was rendered yesterday and handed down by the U. S. Supreme Court."

The Life of Christ

CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE

"There was a certain rich man which was clothed in purple and fine linen, and fared sumptuously every day."—St. Luke XVI, 19

By COLLIN CLINE

THE PICTURE showing Lazarus, the beggar, at the rich man's house was painted seventy-three years ago by Paul Gustave Doré, eminent French artist and illustrator.

It concerns a famous scene when our Saviour told to His disciples and a group of Pharisees:

"There was," He said, "a certain rich man which was clothed in purple and fine linen, and fared sumptuously every day."

"And there was a certain beggar named Lazarus, which was laid at his gate, full of sores."

But the rich man, arrogant and proud, would have nothing to do with this poor, sickling, and asked for water and bread.

Eventually he was healed and received their just rewards and punishments in the next world.

Lazarus, the beggar, was comforted, found peace, and his soul. And he died.

Not so fortunate was the rich man. Shame and remorse found him. And he died.

"Father, have mercy on me, and send Lazarus, that he may dip the tip of his finger in water, and cool my tongue, for I am tormented."

"Son," was the reply, "remember that thou in thy lifetime receivedst thy good things, and likewise Lazarus evil things; but now he is comforted, and thou art tormented."

Thus, as in other parables, Jesus warned against thinking one's self better than other men and forgetting that a person's place in Heaven depends on how well he lived on earth.

Also, He warned a message of hope to those who suffer, assuring them that their pains would end with death, and never-ending happiness would be their eternal reward.

TOMORROW, the story of Christ's holy life continues in the Boston Evening American, with a beautiful reproduction of a masterpiece of contemporary art by Domenico Mastrolanni, Italian portraitist and sculptor.

A DANGEROUS PLAN is the proposal now pending in Congress to tax war profits to the point of virtual CONFISCATION by providing levies against individuals and industries up to 93 per cent.

While it is neither dangerous nor wrong to restrict war profits through heavier taxation, it would be justifiable or endurable in time of peace. It is just as necessary to leave industry a MARGIN OF SURVIVAL in war time as in peace time.

Profits taxation, in accordance with the vital needs of the country in prosecuting a war, is one thing.

Profits CONFISCATION is an entirely different thing. Congress should certainly tax war industries, but not DESTROY them.

A sensible approach would seem to be to establish an average FAIR INCOME for a period of years, and then put a CEILING ON PROFITS that would leave room for industry to live and function.

Equally necessary in war time is a CEILING ON PRICES, because the consuming individual who is contributing an enormous portion of his income in war taxes must also have a sufficient margin of income to support his home and family.

These things should be done sensibly, not HYSTERICALLY.

By EDWIN C. HILL

THE NEW YORK VISIT of Mary Charles A. Hauswirth, of Butte, Montana, and her city is a reminder that a lot of water has flowed under the bridge since young Mary MacLane got on the map here by performing Butte as an impostor of death.

Mary Hauswirth wants the world to know that everything is easy in Butte.

The mayor is a pretty a paragraph of two lines. There isn't an author writing who gets a line of the story or story anything like this. Mary Hauswirth, the impostor of death, is a woman of device. Mary Hauswirth, by her roundhouse, is a woman of device.

HER BOOKS, THE STORY of Mary MacLane, and "Mary Who Was Made Love to Me," were passed down to be the most famous name as they come to Mary. She professed an interest in the book when she was in the "as" extremely strong, steel-willed person in conventional clothes, a man with whom to fall completely, madly in love.

Rather trivial attention-getters these innocent shockers

MARY MacLANE
Death Ended Her Story

seem in this day, but how they did put Mary across! This was just around the turn of the century. Mary became the first free-hand indorse of this and that. Bales of silk stockings were sent to her hotel. One manufacturer sent her 40 pairs of shoes. The swankiest of New York hotels refused to allow her to pay a cent. Tuft-hunting hostesses schemed and conspired to turn her to their houses. Photographers and reporters trailed her everywhere. She was one of the first women in the public gaze ever to smoke.

Her second book, "Men Who Have Made Love to Me," was the loudest shilling shocker of its day. One of the great maharajahs of India asked her to a deluxe trip to his palace, to read the book to him, with an interpreter translating as she read. The reading was a great success, not only with the maharajah, but with his harem. Mary returned to her girlhood New York hotel suite with a casual smile to the reporters, that also had missed only her Martinis—that she needed at least 50 a day to sustain her.

ON AUGUST 8, 1929, there was a 50-word dispatch from Chicago One Mary MacLane, formerly of Butte, Montana, and to be the author of several books, had died, alone and destitute in a lodging house. Identification had been difficult and there was no one to claim the body. And with this casual epilogue, there ended "The Story of Mary MacLane."

Girl About Town -1-

ONE OF BOSTON'S talented young artists, Ann Peterson, who has been in the New York Galleries, has been in the idea that she is a girl about town in Paris and in the New York Galleries.

Ann, a girl about town with no art, has been in the New York Galleries, and she is a girl about town in Paris and in the New York Galleries.

In the New York Galleries, she has been in the New York Galleries, and she is a girl about town in Paris and in the New York Galleries.

ANOTHER, very talented girl is Julie Barbour, who brought down the house with her songs and comedy at the Vincent Club show last week. Julie, besides being a popular debutante and a potential Ethel Merman, is also a Rosa Bonheur follower. Her charcoal sketches of horses, in a one-

HAVE YOU HEARD about the Civic Musical Vespers in Lynn, held on Sunday evenings under leadership of Mrs. Dolly Morrow? The idea is to bring all creeds together to worship through music. Mrs. Morrow, blonde and attractive, designs rich and medieval costumes for the choir and for herself. Most impressive, and worth a visit to Lynn.

THE IMPENDING VISIT of Britain's King and Queen brings out interesting bits of information. For instance, that the will of the King of England is not made public. After it has been read and executed, it is placed in a strong box in Somerset House, where it cannot be read, even by officials.

Domestic Warfare -1-

By HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON, March 28—The feud between business and the President isn't edifying on either side. The spiteful side-winders that have stizzled back and forth between these two vital departments of our national organization are the principal things that have been the matter with us.

Every time Administration policy gets a set-back, or there are light gestures of "appeasement," strong voices in business have not actually said: "It's on the run, back into the penit," but what actually has been said comes pretty close to amounting to that.

And every time that happened the President "got his Dutch up" and socked business on the knicker.

EARLIER in this year many forces within the Administration were agreed that something must be done to turn the juice back into the motor of private enterprise.

It was broadcast to the country by the more reasonable attitude of TVA toward the utilities, the views frequently expressed in private and at least once publicly by Harry Hopkins. The sudden shift of the Senate "Monopoly" Committee from witch-finding, the utterances of the Treasury Department—to mention only a few symptoms of a change of heart.

HARRY HOPKINS

In this case, business voices did not sound the old cry as loudly as usual but the old atmosphere was there. As usual, programs of reform for the New Deal began to appear from big-shot industrial organizations and most of the "points" involved some unspoken New Deal confession that it had blundered and was back-peddling as fast as Gene Tunney after the Chicago long count.

IT IS PINNING no rose on the New Deal today that this was the usual bad tactic or strategy on the part of business. Any government ought to think more about prosperity than about its own pride. But this one just didn't happen to be that way and business ought to have sense enough to see that.

So it was bad tactics and brought the often repeated result. The Administration arched its back and began to meow and piff.

4. WOLF - Letter to the Hon. Many a promising career was blighted and ended in ruin wrecked for scraps by that paltry but poor A. C. Wolf. He was probably remembering as he wrote the following letter:

You've given all American a chance to talk. Well, there's a confession that I bet will hit most of us where we live . . . I was only a High School Freshman when I started. You know how everyone lectures a kid of that age. Giving you all the corny, conventional old advice. Saying you MUST do this or wear that.

"Well, I did what I suppose every person does, sooner or later—I TRIED TO PLEASE EVERYONE. Studied my head off because prospective employers were supposed to be nuts on math. I burned near strangled myself smoking because it was considered 'manly.' Went out hunting for the same reason, though I loathed it, and the thought of bullets ripping through those helpless little bodies made me sick. Nevertheless, I did what everyone considered 'the correct thing.' And what did I have to show for it when I graduated?

"I was a washy-washy, uninteresting kid with neither character nor personality... no ideas of my own... only a vague desire to be a journalist. Dad swore... said there wasn't any future in journalism... I must study engineering. So I studied engineering... worried through a year of it... lost interest... then I asked

"Today, I'm making a real record and better still, I'm living my own life. I no longer try to please anyone else unless there's a constructive reason for so doing. Once I feared to lose friends by being too independent. Now I actually have more friends than ever before. People evidently admire fellows who DARE TO BE THEMSELVES."

Fans' Choice Baseball Opinions

It's easily seen that spring is here judging from the way the baseball fans of New England have hopped into the Bees, Red Sox argument. Here are more letters from the boys that pay the freight and the Boston American is pleased to give all a chance to express himself on the local baseball subject.

March 28, 1939.
Somerville, Mass.

Dear Sir:

Mr. Clancy seems to think that the Bees are headed for the pennant in 1939. Well, let's sum things up.

Behind the bat we have Al Lopez, a weak hitter, one of if not the greatest catchers in the National League today. Helping Al is Stan Andrews, up from Hartford, an unknown quality as yet. Phil Masi to be farmed out.

At first base the battle between Fletcher and Hassett still rages on. The fans know what both men can do around the bag; at the bat Fletcher is weak. Hassett has been a .290-.300 hitter in the past, all his playing has been at Brooklyn. Can he hit at the home of the Bees?

Second Base—Cuccinello a dependable steady player with a .280 batting average.

Shortstop—Eddie Miller, reports from the south say a marvelous fielder, occasionally hits a long one. Will these long ones carry into the deep set bleachers at National League Field? Understudy Warster also a good fielder, no hitter.

Third Base—Debs Garms who appears to have found himself as a hitter, may or may not hit .300 again. Kahle still doesn't know if he can get the ball over to first yet. Bill, reports not very encouraging, batted .338 in Southern Assn. Southern pitchers not of caliber of National League. Atlanta Ball Park not the size of Boston Park.

Outfield—Simmons, Outlaw, West. Simmons will hit, but so did Berger, no pennants during Vally's stay at Boston. Outlaw couldn't stick with Cincinnati team who also have large park. West another man who once in a while hits a long one. Then we have Cooney, a dependable .250 hitter. Dickshot a castoff of the Pirates who couldn't hit at Forbes Field, a much smaller park than we have in Boston. The others are still a couple of years away.

Pitching—Still the best staff in the league—Fette, new MacFadyen, Lanning, Shoffner, Earley and Sullivan would be almost unbeatable with a few Cronins, Fox's, Tabers, etc. in the lineup.

After it's all added up the summary is: Many more interesting low score games, many men left on base for the want of a base hit, a little improvement here and there and with a little luck a first division berth. In the minds of the Bees fans a very successful season.

Thank you
KENNETH L. TOTTY

March 28, '39.
St. Centre st.,
Malden, Mass.

Dear Sir:

Being a follower of the National Pastime for a number of years I think the Red Sox are due to fall into the cellar this year. Due mainly to the lack of a first class reliever. Ever since Marty McManus was given the old luckless, the Sox have lacked that fighting spirit.

And by the way watch Bill Werber at old Cincinnati this year and if Fox played at Griffith Stadium his batting average would resemble his poll tax, and don't forget the Yankees, stronger than ever with Detroit and the Indians hanging on for photo finish. Woody Rich and Wagner will stand out this year.

New for those hustling Bees, Eddie Miller, the sensational little shortstop along with the other added hitting power. Hassett; Dick Outlaw and Todd along with a fine pitching staff and Stengel at the controls should have them fighting near the roof. Quinlan is now getting the breaks and a finer fellow couldn't deserve them.

Sincerely,

WILLIAM F. SULLIVAN.

ALL THIS IN VAIN? TOMORROW MAY TELL.
Grove has arm toasted after 1938 breakdown

Grove to Test Arm On Reds Tomorrow

By JOE CASHMAN

SARASOTA, Fla., March 28—The most crucial moment in the young life of the 1939 Red Sox comes tomorrow afternoon.

Robert Moses Grove, an invincible pitcher during the first half of last season and a dead-armed invalid during the last half, will inaugurate a comeback attempt, in his 40th year, by taking the mound against the Cincinnati Reds.

Al Lopez To Retain Old Berth

By JACK CONWAY

BRADENTON, Fla., March 28—Al Lopez will continue to be the first string catcher for the Bees this season. He is still the class of Casey Stengel's backstops.

Al Todd, whom the Bees got from Pittsburgh, has been given plenty of opportunities to show his worth, but there is not any chance of his succeeding the finished Lopez. Todd is a handy catcher for any ball club to have. He will come in useful during the double-header season and in the event Lopez is incapacitated for active service by injury or illness.

Lopez, however, has that little extra flash and punch that keeps him cut front of opposition such as is furnished by a good receiver like Todd.

Stanley Andrew and Philip Masi will be carried for a while. Later on one of these catchers may be let out to some other club.

NEED OUTFIELDERS

"If we could develop outfielders like we can catchers," said Casey Stengel, "I would not have a worry in the world. We have one of the strongest catching staffs in the National League. It will do its part in giving our strong staff of flingers what assistance they need."

The Bees have started to show some of the battling punch they have been seeking for several years. It has been quite gratifying to Bob Quinn and to Casey Stengel to see the Bees buzz through with a flock of hits.

Al Simmons is proving a hitting inspiration for his teammates. Simmons poses a terrific power behind his drives, and many of them go for extra bases. This makes up for Simmons' lack of speed.

Al says he will take off some more weight between now and the time when the season opens. The big fellow never was more anxious to make good than he is this season, and it looks as if he will start the league campaign with his batting eye going on high.

Jimmy Outlaw has also been hitting better than he was in the early stages of the training season. Outlaw possesses a world of speed, and if he can improve in his sliding he will be a helpful factor in the Bees' drive for the first division.

John Dickshot hasn't been hitting the agile as well as he should. In some of the practice games at Bradenton he has received some bad breaks from the umpires in the matter of balls and strikes.

Immediately thereafter, Sox pennant stock will rise or fall sharply.

If Mose gives the slightest indication of being his old self, the Fenway flock, bolstered by the acquisition of Ted Williams, Jim Taber, "Woody" Rich, Eldon Auker and Denny Galehouse, will become an even-money bet to end Yankee supremacy.

GROVE NEEDED

Should he falter, on the other hand, you can get any odds if you think the club has acquired enough new strength to finish better than second without the aid of the greatest southpaw pitcher of all time.

If it were anybody but Grove taking such a test under similar conditions, little attention would be paid to him. It would be regarded as inevitable that he'd fail.

But Mose has performed so many miracles and so often fooled his critics that now, at an age when the average sound-armed pitcher has lost all his stuff, the baseball world refuses to hazard a guess as to whether he can baffle batters with a question-mark wing until it sees him try it.

He apparently was all washed up with a lame whip five years back when he joined the Sox.

FALTERED AGAINST TIGERS

Yet, starting in 1935, he turned in 68 victories for the Croninmen up to the time his arm became limp and lifeless while pitching against the Tigers at Fenway Park last July.

After a few weeks rest, he twice tried out the ailing wing but was forced to quit in agony on each occasion.

Doctors, puzzled both as to the cause and nature of his trouble, ordered him to throw no more during the campaign.

But, in the final week, he was back finishing up a game against the Yankees and looking like a million dollars.

This year Mose engaged in preliminary conditioning at Hot Springs but didn't attempt to throw, and, during the first three weeks down here, he merely tossed the ball without putting anything on it.

NEW YORK, March 28—Figuring that this is their last trip to the Big City, the Bruins went out shopping this morning . . . A week ago, they were too tense to give any thoughts to the new spring styles . . .

On the way over here yesterday, Art Ross huddled with his rookies . . . He warned them against taking tonight's game too lightly . . . Pointing out that the Rangers will be dangerous until they are definitely put out of the running . . .

"Dit" Clapper received a congratulatory telegram from Hal "Baldy" Cotton, the former Toronto Maple Leaf winger, for making the N. H. L. All Star team . . .

The Bruins are still loud in their praise of Bert Gardiner's goal tending during the third game . . . They place the blame for their four goals right in the laps of the Ranger outer defense men, particularly Babe Pratt and Muzz Patrick . . . And they cannot understand why Pratt didn't contract pneumonia from the drafts created while Herbie Schmidt was going around him . . .

At that few goalies have ever been called upon to make as many rebound saves as Gardiner was on Sunday night . . . Dr. Martin J. Crotty, the club physician, was the only third game casualty . . . He was flattened by the gripper . . . Bill Cowley claims that Mel Hill passed him the puck when he scored in the third period at the Boston Garden . . . And, that J. Melvin Hill should have received an assist . . .

Byl Apps and Gordie Drillon will receive checks for $1000 from Connie Smythe because they were selected on the N. H. L. All Star first team . . .

"Jersey" Jones, the Rangers' publicity director, who played host to the New York hockey writers for four days in Boston, has made out an application for membership to the Bartenders Union . . . Connie Smythe hopes that Harvey "Busher" Jackson will be ready for action before the end of the week . . .

"Busher" has been out with an injured knee . . . George Parsons, who ruined the Bruins a year ago, and Buzz Boll, who was ruined by the Bruins in the opening game of the 1938-39 season, are lost to the Leafs for the year . . .

Clint Smith, the Rangers' midget forward, uses a stick that's longer than any that Conney Weiland has . . . Roy Conacher has indicated by his actions on a couple occasions during this series that he's just about fed up on getting the well known business . . . He's a Conacher and therefore bad news when sufficiently riled . . .

Martin to Act As Royal Referee

Bull Martin and Ted Germaine, foremost "bad men" in wrestling, will find themselves in plenty of trouble tonight in Sam Price's weekly grappling carnival at the Boston Arena.

Germaine, returning to local mat meelees after a long absence, collides with Myer "Curly" Donchin, junior heavyweight champion of the world, in the main bout. Martin, who has been undefeated since opening a new campaign here recently and last week gave Jim Maloney a mauling, referees a novel eight-man battle today.

It will be a team battle royal, four on each side, throwing it out for a special cash bonus of $500 for the victorious quartet by Sam Price, a bit of an incentive although these pulverizing pachyderms seldom need any.

The Syrian Kid, Fred Bruno, Pete Janco, Les Ryan, 365-pound man mountain Harry Jacobs, King Kong Frankenstein, Mike Rogoski and Art Grennon will be paired in trial bouts. Then the four winners will wrangle with the four losers in the royal with Bull Martin as the ninth man in the ring.

Consider Meade's Race Application

NEW YORK, March 28 (INS)—The New York State Jockey Club may consider the application of Don Meade, barrel race rider, for reinstatement tomorrow morning.

College Men Root Champion Takes on For Gus Sonnenberg Big Steve Casey

BRADENTON, Fla., March 28—College men whom I have met in Florida are as much interested in the remarkable wrestling comeback of Gus Sonnenberg as they are in the various major league baseball clubs who are playing in the Grapefruit League.

Sonnenberg is the most colorful athlete to come bobbing into professional sports from one of the big colleges in the past 20 years. Even Lou Gehrig of the Yankees, who studied at Columbia, never attracted as much national attention as Sonnenberg.

Gehrig was always a model athlete. He did what convention and good manners required one to do at a particular time. Even when Lou is hitting a home run, he does it in routine fashion. In this respect he is unlike Babe Ruth, who often pointed to the spot where he was going to knock a home run and then did so as the jeers of a hostile crowd changed to cheers of admiration.

Sonnenberg always reminded me of Ruth. He didn't care a rap for what the social editors declared was the proper way to drink your soup or act during any particular occasion.

If it suited Sonnenberg's fancy to rip a radiator from its moorings in a swanky apartment along the Harvard Gold Coast or to bump the head of a complaining night watchman against the ceiling, he did it.

Took Driving Air Plane Hops

THE OLD DYNAMITER would miss a train connection for a particular match, and a day or so later go to an airport and ask a mail pilot to bundle him away among some mail pouches and carry him to his destiny.

In the ring, Sonnenberg also laughed at the orthodox way of doing things. Because men had played football or wrestled in a particular groove down through the years was not sufficient reason why Gus should adopt similar methods.

This is why Sonnenberg electrified the fans when he first blasted his way to the world's heavyweight championship behind a destructive butt and a flying tackle.

I had my nose against the canvas of the ring that night at the Arena when Sonnenberg wrestled Strangler Lewis. Gus missed a wild tackle, came skyrocketing over my head to crash his head against the concrete floor. I thought Gus was near death as he was picked up with a badly cut head and rushed to a hospital. Seven months later the Dynamiter came back to win the world's title from Lewis, and to go on to draw $2,000,000.

SONNENBERG IS still doing the unusual in athletics. In meeting Steve Casey in a world's title bout at a Paul Bowser show at the Garden tomorrow night, he is clashing with the class of the challengers.

It was less than two weeks ago that Sonnenberg won back his title by defeating "The Shadow." The fans would not have objected if Sonny had gone on a barnstorming tour and opposed some mediocre opposition. Such a program would have given him an opportunity to have built up a financial reserve. Instead, Sonnenberg agreed to meet Casey as he felt as champion he should prove his ability to conquer all-comers.

Casey has youth on his side. He is 27 years of age, and at his peak physically. The Irishman has more power than Sonnenberg, and never tires.

At orthodox wrestling, Casey is Sonnenberg's superior. Sonnenberg's tackle is what Casey must offset if he is to leave the ring champion tomorrow night. Steve says he has a defense for the tackle, and that when Gus misses he will pick him up and crash him to the canvas.

Sonnenberg is 38 years of age, and has got into the best possible physical condition by a year of steady training. He only weighs 180 pounds, and has removed the roll of fat he carried around his waistline a year ago.

Lynn Bowlers Big 'Hit' in Hearst Tournament

CHIMINIELLO, GANGI SET DOUBLES PACE

Hearst Bowling Scores

By WALTER KILEY

"Lynn Day" turned out to be a conspicuous success as the North Shore bowling contingents walked off with one after another of the open and amateur highs during the second of the 13 plays of competition in the fourth annual Boston Evening American-Daily Record grand candlepin championships at the Huntington Club.

Gelg into today's third day of title competition Lynn is sitting pretty.

Conspicuous among the high scorers representing this shoe city was Francis Chiminello of Quincy, New England candlepin champion, who represents Twentieth Century Alleys.

Chiminello, one of the greatest bowlers ever developed in the New England district, hit 563 in the men's professional doubles, an average of 113 over the five string stretch and together with teammate Jim Gangi's 519, took over the lead in this event with a combined total of 1084.

LUCKY STRIKE FAIR HOT

The "Lucky Strike" pair from Lynn, Harry Arathuk and Pete Palumbo, were likewise hot, Arathuk, last year's American Record singles professional champion, knocking them over for 537 and Palumbo adding 529 for a total of 1066 and second place honors at this stage of the game.

The "Lucky Strike Five," an open team, likewise took over possession of first place in the team competition. Joe Bonifati hitting 333, Arathuk 323, Stan Walli 308, Joe Gwostroski 297 and Lefty Mitchell 295, for a total of 1556.

Twentieth Century of Lynn with Mike Gangi, George Halley, Jim Gangi, Palumbo and Chiminello were a good second with 1551. Jim Gangi setting the pace with 334 and Chiminello next with 324.

RODOWSKI ON BALL

In the Amateur division Fred Rodowski of Lynn was the big man of the day. His 324 took over the pace in the men's singles and he later returned to the alleys to produce another 324 in the doubles. In the latter event he came up with a final string of 132 which was highest single string of the tourney.

Dag Flynn and Joseph Cambee of Lynn shot into the lead in the Men's Amateur doubles with a combined 615 which lowered the colors of Ralph Wheeler and John McDermott of the Boston Herald who had earlier come through with 609. Flynn's 322 made possible the fine effort.

James Gillett of Lawrence and Mary McCluskey went into first place in the open mixed doubles with 1009 for the five strings. Gillett recording 553 and Miss McCluskey 456.

George Manuel of South Boston, student at Northeastern University became front runner in the College Boys' division with 266.

Another large group of men and women bowlers were down for the serious contention which marks today's calendar.
